Headline:
Sunshine on Sunday. Some showers breaking out.

Today:
Mainly dry, sunny start. Clouds bubbling up with scattered showers breaking out by the end of the morning, mostly in east. Staying drier over west Highlands with more sunshine, the North Coast also becoming mainly sunny later. Cool. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tonight:
Scattered showers this evening gradually dying out over inland areas but a few will linger over the west coast and the Isles overnight. Another cold night with some frost. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Monday:
A mostly dry start, some sunshine in north, the odd shower, then cloud and outbreaks of rain edging north with a strengthening northeasterly wind, though the far northwest mainly dry. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Rather cold with sunshine and scattered showers, these turning wintry to quite low levels for a time on Wednesday.
